Finding a Way

Humanity continues to prepare for its shift into Unity Consciousness. In order to move into a new reality, one must find a way to disengage from the present collective reality with its method of accepting and believing that growth comes only through intense physical and emotional conflict. The “pain” of expanding perception and then “suffering” physically and emotionally in order to learn a life lesson is a deeply imbedded belief that is incompatible with Unity Consciousness. In the new reality, it is not necessary to “pay ones dues” in order to grow and succeed. Instead greater understanding permits one to exercise wisdom in the active creation of a greatly improved quality of life. Learn to shatter this personal cross of crucifixion without accepting pain and suffering.

This leap forward in human perception cannot somehow be magically learned on your own; it is very different from the current collective reality. It is not possible merely to read a few books and understand it clearly. The reason for this is that the existing collective reality is treaded throughout the conscious, subconscious, and super-conscious mind in humankind. Even understanding it is not enough, for one must be able to actively re-structure their lifestyle (as much as possible), until one finally becomes this new reality. It must be lived in order to become real in your life.

When a species begins to shift into a new perception of life, it requires a transition period to start detaching from the old and start learning to embrace the new way; it will also require the guidance of many spiritual teachers. Such a teacher must not merely understand the new shift and be able to effectively impart the knowledge to others; he or she must be an example of how it has transformed their own life and how it awakened them into a much greater understanding of existence. Although there is more attention now being placed on the subject of Unity Consciousness, authentic teachers of the actual transformative process remain rare. Most of the attention today is still centered on transforming individual beliefs, overcoming personal limitations, and adopting healthier behaviors. Others place the focus on God or Source and use eastern meditation techniques. All this is commendable and will produce some growth; however, it is still insufficient. These methods have been going on for quite some time; still, it is merely the names of such programs that change with passing Millenniums. It is not enough.

If only moving into the new consciousness were that easy! To make the leap forward will require more than this.

Making the decision to take advantage of a new form of evolving is not for the faint of heart. We are at the beginning of an Age where this new consciousness will grow to become the dominate reality on earth. If your desire to learn is strong enough, then you will find a way to seek out an authentic teacher of the way ahead. If your desire is weak, then you will not find a way to pursue this opportunity, and you will settle for less than authentic instruction. Perhaps, you will rationalize and try to convince yourself it is not really that important. Beloved Ones of the Creator's Heart, the old paradigm is broken. Look around, can you not see it? Something is disintegrating day after day. The old civilization cannot satisfy the requirements of today. The perception focus of humankind is steadily being shifted into a new direction and soon masses of people everywhere will be ready to start understanding the new evolution.

If desire is strong and you are determined, then pursue your dream and find a way to access an enlightened and authentic teacher of Unity Consciousness. Of course, as you might imagine, Unity Consciousness does not mean simply learning how to get along with others in harmony. It is a complete transformation into a new way of life. It is a complete personal and intimate transformation into something you have never been before. The new reality is not only healthier, it is also advanced. To put it into computer language, one could say that humanity is getting the opportunity for a big upgrade.
