The Anatomy of Divine Healing

The authentic Self, as a manifestation of the Creator, is Transcendent, and a constitution of Love, Light and Life in form energy. These sustaining elements, through affirmation of Divinity, express and expand that which is within and illuminate our Divine Self on all levels of consciousness. This is our God-given birthright and that which we must rightly claim.

The unveiling of this Truth, through integration of conscious, sub-conscious and super-conscious, and the subsequent acknowledgement, is a necessary prerequisite in the reclaiming of this Divinity and needs to be unearthed through reformation of all that we are not, and resurrection of the Divine. In this way True Healing is manifested. Only then, through this glorification, is All revealed, and we begin to recognize what we need to defy, re-discover, and then re-define. Fear, as an all encompassing, all embracing illusion, is an antithesis of Love. It paralyzes our forward movement into the Light, through entrapment within the dense mass consciousness and absorption of discordant energies; the sense of Self and the True nature of our total being is lost. Then we become something other than who we really are, and in a state of disarray, confusion, and complacency, we adopt a belief system that is not in alliance with our True statehood and for our highest good.

As beings of free will, we must accept responsibility for the struggle to become fully aware of our own thoughts and deeds, and denounce all illusions as that which they are: an absence of All which is of Divine make-up, so that, through greater wisdom, we acknowledge that which is delusional and thereby prevent any illusionary “hold”. Then, with improved clarity, there is increased vision, and through significant discernment, the realization of Truth is easily perceived. With new belief patterns, we are motivated towards even greater accomplishments as we strive to greater heights of actualization. This progression expands the Self, as we are lifted ever higher towards the heavens. This has profound healing properties for, as an energy form of Light, continually mirroring the Creator, “Love” enriches our total being and expands all our doing. Then, limitless in form, we Are a manifestation of the Divine and an affirmation of Life in All its magnificence.

Divine Intervention

Stanza I

*Divine Being, let us pour forth the eternal waters,
Of wisdom and bathe in,
The fountain of Infinite Knowing,
You are the unlimited, unchanging, immortal, Essence without beginning or end,
Who contains no restriction, Save that which you have chosen, See yourself as
The Divine Light,
And you are that Light, See yourself as Divine*

IN THIS ISSUE:

The Anatomy of Divine Healing	1
Divine Intervention	1-2
Compassion	2-3
The Miracle of Life- Through the Eyes of a Child	3-4

Love,
 And you are that Love,
 See yourself as,
 The Healer,
 The Master,
 The Teacher,
 And as you so see,
 So therefore you are,
 Divine Co-Creator,
 You are given,
 The reality of free will,
 This reality,
 Which you have brought with you into,
 Your current Beingness of form,
 Is a great responsibility, You may choose anything present in infinity,
 And having chosen,
 Realize you are,
 Still much more,
 Dance and play in this Divine Dream,
 Called Life,
 Feel the shear joy of Being,
 Whatever you choose,
 You will become,
 But for a brief moment only, a lifetime,
 You are an immortal, eternal, boundless essence.
 Divine Spark of Light,
 You are,
 What you see,
 In this form reality,
 Know that I have never left you,
 Will never leave you,
 Yet realize, you are also given,
 The freedom to Be,
 Whatever you choose to Be,
 This is My Will,
 Beloved One, show me thy will,
 Tell me,
 What can you see,
 And thus,

What will you Be?

Stanza II

What you see becomes your knowing,
 Your knowing creates your beliefs,
 Your beliefs feed your emotions, And your emotions power your actions,
 The power of Divine Co-Creation,
 Is given unto thee,
 Re-construct the Divine Dream, As you so will,
 For you are and will always be,
 Still much, much more.
 Beyond all the times, spaces, and places,
 You will always still Be,
 I AM THAT I AM ALL there has ever been,
 All there is, all there ever shall be,
 For I AM THAT I AM ALL,
 And so are you, my beloved,
 Who are of me, within me, and are me,
 Dream on and create,
 Or
 Awaken and create,
 You may have whatever you can see,
 Whatever you see, I give unto thee, Thee are the Light, the Love, the Power,
 Show me what thee chooses to create,
 Show me what thee chooses to Be.
 You are given the freedom,
 And I will not interfere, Save you ask for Divine Intervention, And then I will be there, always, forever,
 Throughout infinity,
 And will you hear me,
 And will you feel me,
 And will you know me, for,
 I AM THAT I AM ALL.

Avatara Emanuella

Note:

In this poem you will notice a new Divine directive from the Creator which is "I AM THAT I AM ALL". This was given to the Avatara Emanuella approximately 12 years ago and replaces the old "I AM THAT I AM ". It has also become part of her Divine Mandate, to release this next Divine Word which is descriptive of the Creator's all-encompassing essence.

Compassion

The Dalai Lama's philosophy believes there are two basic foundations for happiness; tolerance and compassion. Humankind searches constantly for happiness yet so many are misguided into believing that the perfect mate, or the perfect job plus lots of material wealth equal happiness. In my life journey this time, I have searched and searched in many of the wrong places. I believe most people do exactly what I have done. However, the Dalai Lama's principles led me down a different path, one of great wisdom to understand self and others.
 Tolerance and patience were not virtues that came easy to me; compassion on the other hand was much easier.

Compassion is the sincere understanding of others even when your experiences are different. It's having the ability to put yourself in someone's shoes. I have seen many acts of compassion recently with the courageous recovery efforts due to our devastating hurricanes. A higher power spared me from being a victim. Now I sit and wonder what the lessons for humanity are? Stripping people down to the clothes on their backs, seeing most material possessions, jobs, some family members and pets ... gone. In a few hours all that was normal, secure, and orderly vanished. I sat and imagined. Imagining was painful. This was only one event but the list is endless, if one chooses to develop compassion. It's this very act of reaching out and showing compassion to others that gives us a feeling of wholeness.

Proponents of Buddhism, Hinduism, and New Age advocates revere compassion as an important element and way to be with others, in doing so we also help ourselves to move beyond our own isolated knowledge of life. Compassion implies the understanding of others; it is hard to be compassionate if we cannot understand what others are feeling or experiencing.

In Dalai Lama's Book of Wisdom he says, "The Buddhist interpretation is that genuine compassion is based on a clear acceptance or recognition that others, like oneself, want happiness and have the right to overcome suffering. On that basis one develops some kind of concern about the welfare of others, irrespective of their attitude to oneself. That is compassion."

Genuine compassion is not pity or a feeling that others are lower than you but, rather a view towards others as being more important than yourself. Genuine compassion (karuna) involves acknowledging the suffering of others and opening your heart to feel it deeply without getting lost or overwhelmed. Today in our world of avid mental pursuits, most try to avoid any deliberate focus on suffering. Suffering is painful and can trigger feelings of helplessness, anger, fear and grief. On the other hand "genuine compassion" is empowering. The real truth is many are still suffering upon our world. And it is compassion that gives us strength to find ways to alleviate it. The serenity prayer expresses this truth..."God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can and the wisdom to know the difference."

Dear ones, do not be so quick to turn your eyes from suffering for the action of looking long and hard at those who struggle, may lead you from illusion into truth and from the unreal into the real.
