

MISSION STATEMENT: “One World Heart’s mission is to lift humanity up “onhi” and our planet Earth (Gaia) through education and promotion of the new Aquarian Spirituality, according to the Creator’s Will and Plan.”

Manifestation

(Man-i-fes-ta-tion): An indication of the existence, reality, materialization or presence of an idea or someone or something.

“As we raise our consciousness and activate our lightbody, we realize we are our own creators made, or making ourselves, in the image and similitude of the one Creator. Indeed, since in a hologram the part contains the whole, we are the one Creator. By learning this truly transformative lesson, we return to unity consciousness while mastering physicality. In other words, we achieve god-realization as the light of soul descends into a divine or soul body healed of duality and freed from the instructional cycle of karma. “

Constellation Impacts on the Human Psyche

Energetic impacts from the constellations do assist humanity with its spiritual initiation process. The initiation process occurs in stages, just as the evolution of consciousness happens in stages. Our journey towards enlightenment is a progressive process held in intention, through the Creator’s Will and Plan. Through the refinement of body, mind, soul and Spirit, and through integration of higher frequencies, we move toward greater wholeness. The human psyche received dramatic shifts in awareness during the Piscean Age, with centuries dedicated to spiritual discipline, religion and the formation of more refined human values. However, the human psyche expands much more quickly in the newly emerging Aquarian Age, with assistance from the constellations and a rigorous integration of spiritual principles into the third dimension, in conjunction with increased human receptivity to augmented levels of intelligence and wisdom.

There are three major constellations in our galaxy that predominately hold an energetic focus to accelerate humanity's growth through the next 2,100 years of the Golden Age in Aquarius. These three celestial bodies of light influence both the physical and psychological aspects of humanity with unique frequencies, shifting principles, and an intensifying focus upon the balance present in the whole. What are the effects on the human psyche when the energies from large celestial bodies flow into planet Earth? How does this affect us on our path of continuing enlightenment?

Presently, the three major influences of the constellations reach us at various stages of our initiation process. We become more sensitive to impressions as our own vibrations move into ever higher frequencies. During the 2100 year period of the Aquarian Age, our Creator's Plan is being expressed in three major overlapping phases of development. Additionally, there will be frequent minor peaks and valleys whenever there is a collective energetic shift within humankind. Response to shifting energies in large groups will affect the general populations more than ever before, especially from those groups who are more highly developed.

These three phases are Divine Intelligence (Divine Mind), Divine Love (Divine Heart), and Divine Will (Divine Power). Notice how this parallels the previously released information concerning the three-fold flame: Light, Love, and Power. The full beauty of the three-fold flame appears in the Heart Chakra as the soul succeeds in achieving the spiritual goals of the Aquarian Age. Souls do not develop at the same rate of speed; some may not achieve the new spiritual goals at all although vast segments of humanity will certainly evolve into the new consciousness. Today, at the very beginning of our next era, we see some few advanced souls already express the full beauty of the three-fold flame shining within their hearts.

Pleiadian	Sirian	Great Bear
Divine Intelligence	Divine Love-Wisdom	Divine Will

The three constellation group energies of major importance to humanity in its spiritual initiation process are the Pleiades (7 Sisters), Sirius (the Dog Star), and the Great Bear (Big Dipper). During the beginning of the Aquarian Age, the star system of the Pleiades is bringing forth another current of Divine Intelligence into the masses of humanity. The human psyche can utilize this Divine Intelligence energy to strengthen understanding, to expand the concrete and creative mind, to open to higher dimensions of perception, and to realize the folly of its own expressed imbalance. Collectively, humanity becomes aware of the potential to push beyond its egotistical thinking and emotional immaturity, thereby transcending their created dualities of construction verses destruction.

This constellation assists individuals with their first and second spiritual initiations. The human psyche expands into an understanding of the planetary chakra system, the active utilization of expressed energies, and finally learns to perceive itself as both form and energetic beings. Meditation is used as a means of broadening the psyche into greater levels of control, where the constant chatter of the lower ego mind is finally mastered and service towards larger and larger groupings increases the ability to love. A much higher level of emotional maturity occurs with the first initiation, whereas, with the second initiation, augmented control of the thinking processes is achieved.

During the middle of the Aquarian Age, the general populations will begin to respond much more to the constellation of Sirius. It will emanate its radiant light onto the Earth and affect humanity by stimulating humankind with the quality of Divine Love and Wisdom. These emanations of Love into the human psyche will also attract higher spiritual relationships into the individual's life. Collectively, humanity will be experiencing much greater peace on the planet and learning to draw their strength from Love, instead of feeding the energy of fear in a misguided attempt to protect themselves from the challenges of life.

At the last part of the 2,100 year cycle, the influence of the Great Bear (the Big Dipper) takes effect. This is a time, far into the future, when the energy and light from the other two constellations have already merged into the collective human population. The human psyche has integrated amplified intelligence and higher perception; it has also blended with qualities of expanded Love and is continuing to learn about the power advanced wisdom can bring. Relationships are viewed very differently then, being perceived as the most valuable avenues for a working partnership of revelation from the One Absolute Creator Source. More and more, the focus of humankind will be to follow the Divine Will of Creator's Plan, along with a realistic acceptance of our universal Divine Heritage. Dualities will still occur, yet our species will have discovered how to unite contrasting opinions with wisdom, producing goodwill for both part and whole. Resolving intricate paradoxes will become commonplace. Specialized groups, some quite large, will function beyond thought, accessing infinite perception, and expressing infinite love. The consciousness of humanity at this time will be quite advanced and aligned primarily with service, exploration, and enlightened development.

As these three constellations continue to impact the human psyche, both individually and collectively, we see an interrelationship with all things in Creator's Plan. We are reminded of that favorite saying: "As Above, So Below," for the constellations above and our human form below, are actively working to bring Heaven to Earth by working together as one.

Finally we have entered the Aquarian Age with its rising new consciousness. Certainly for some souls this is a time of advanced consciousness, expansion of the mind into vast higher intelligences, and an extension of the heart into all forms of altruistic service. This is an opportune moment for major global change and rapid spiritual evolution. All things in Creation are ready to support us in this task.

The Creative Process – A Limitless Spectacle

The whole life process is an experience of constant joy, continuous Creation and never ending expansion of a God who is with us always and lives within us always.

Through expanded awareness thus, let us begin to acknowledge Life and its Divine Purpose. Through an expression of our Love, eternal and unconditional, for all those whose lives we come into contact with, and for all life forms, and through a demonstration of gratitude for the daily miracles and marvels bestowed upon us, let us become awakened to the magnificence of the Divine essence in all we see and do and establish a life-world of True meaning.

Master Kuthumi

Thus spoke the Lord,

I Am That I Am All,

Therefore give all for the Great Divine Light,
Become the Cosmic Lotus of Divine Wisdom
and Love,

And above all others honor the God Most High,
Who graces you with the Power of Divine Life,

And builds the Eternal Temple of Wisdom,

Deep within each Humble Heart,

Oh, One Absolute Source,

Behold the WORD revealed,

I Am That I Am All,

Lights the way ahead.

Trans-Universal Portal Interface

All the Universes are connected in some manner. A Portal Interface is the most common method used to produce the required resonant affinity without a direct fusion between universal polarities. A direct blending of such divergent energies would, in the vast majority of situations, produce a catastrophic cascade of incompatible energies, and such occurrences create destruction on a massive scale.

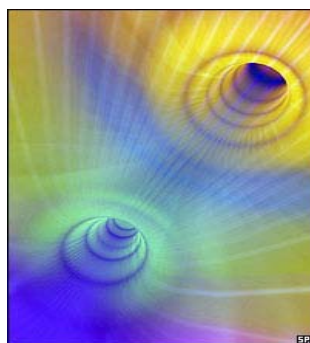

The original plan, from what we can presently comprehend, was to stream- line light energy between universes, while still maintaining the pre-existing construction. In this way, the essential integrity, stability, and balance would remain unaltered. Portal interfaces are immeasurably ancient, the Galactic Archives contain only meager knowledge of them, as well as some relevant facts about what has occurred when certain beings attempted to alter this system interface, yet the original builder(s) remain unknown.

In regards to the original plan, we are also aware that all the universes, both known and unknown constitute the physical form body of the One Absolute Creator, from which all manifested substance emanated, and we further affirm that no one has any working knowledge of what the overall configuration is, or will someday become. New universes are still being created. There is a definite plan at work, for it is obvious, even with the appearance of the new universes, manifestation is related to the releasing of certain indwelling potential programming present in other regional aspects of the Creator's Celestial Body. However, since we do not know the blueprints for this evolving form, it is not possible to understand clearly why new universes appear when they do.

We continue to render ourselves receptive for whatever God wills to reveal. Revelations, of such caliber, take place on God's Timetable and not upon the aspirations of its creations.

These portal interfaces are needed to coordinate undifferentiated cosmic particle streams in order to maximize special potentialities. They appear to have multiple purposes and serve not only as energetic transitioning agents but also as balance augmenters. We have billions, quite possibly more, of such interfaces acting as a collective cosmic grid system connecting the universes together for some unknown reason.

Another remarkable purpose for this celestial grid system is the translation of light fields and code sequences for broad range compatibility. It is precisely these light fields and code sequencing that we find as a core part of the inter-dimensional Heavens. These twelve inter-dimensional Heavens also called the Houses of God, are connected to the immeasurable number of universes by such compatible and constantly fluctuating variables.

The Elohim, who are celestial architects, use these foundational codes for the construction and programming of the life forms and structures found in our universe. They pass through these portal interfaces completely unaffected while most other life forms must exercise care, for not all portals contain the exact field densities and contact with them can cause a wide range of effects. Even the least little bit of incompatibility can cause substantial changes to different life forms. This is manageable, since this trans-universal portal grid system is, for the most part, stationary, and does not drift throughout space as do some of our other cosmic aberrancies.

A good amount of work has been done on analyzing the major light codes found in the portals. It has been of tremendous help in increasing our understanding as to why certain shapes are continuously re-occurring, despite the many varied expansion and entropy cycles in the few universes we have contacted directly. We have amassed a number of these universal code puzzle pieces and are always seeking to compare data with others engaged in explorations of this type.

One of the most important variables we have discovered is that these different code sequences do not come through the portals in random order. The codes sent are in response to the conditions present in the universes. It has been theorized that they may function as some advanced self-correcting mechanism.

Another well investigated theory involves the presence of these codes in the inter-dimensional Heavens. Regardless of the different light field portal variations and densities resulting from the many different code sequences, we are still able to find that precise coding in the inter-dimensional Heavens. All direct contact with the mind of God has happened when the recipient develops a precise momentary affinity with these various dimensions. Therefore, an additional purpose might be to reduce or filter the initial strain placed on any universally expanded consciousness by augmenting the resource connection and streamlining it into one of the more cohesive universal loop patterns♥. This would go a long way towards enhancing the accuracy of the material received by the recipient of any Divine Source connection.

♥ Trans-universal loop and the three cosmic keys are revelations brought out by Avatara Emanuella.

From Psychology to Heightened Awareness (Psychology of the Future)

"First you live out what you ask of others.

When living it,

There is nothing left to ask."

(From a Bruce Scott dream)

Open to the possibility that the beliefs you have about normal and abnormal, right and wrong, good and bad, or healthy and unhealthy, are no longer significant to you. Imagine yourself in a world where all behaviors are considered normal even when not understood - where all human beings, thoughts, fantasies, physical symptoms, and fears are normal. Even abnormal is normal. Nothing is marginalized. Imagine that you have not learned to name, label, analyze, or diagnose the people and behaviors around you. How would that feel to you? How does your body rest now, knowing you do not have to make anyone wrong, or separate them out by a name, label, diagnosis, or some descriptive behavior? Even include the idea that nothing makes sense anymore and there is no sequence to events.

Assume that the linear mind takes a long rest, and not knowing what will happen in advance, becomes familiar and welcoming. You feel good about that.

Include also, that everything is unpredictable, and you do not need to know what you are doing. You do not even need to be right, or look good for others, ever. What sensations, if any, are you aware of in your body as you read this? What if most of the people in our lives who have been diagnosed with a mental disorder are seen as mystics, shamans, and medicine people? What if people diagnosed with ADHD are really creative beings seeking expression? What if people accused of being "too sensitive" are recognized as exquisitely sensitive, having been blessed with the gift of heightened awareness?

For a moment, decide that you can no longer blame others for anything, even if you feel justified, and that you do not want, nor need, to project enemy status onto the other gender; that women and men, children and teenagers, have common human origin, and are artificially separated by social and cultural beliefs, and labels not of our own making.

What if more schools became a place of wonder, mystery, creativity, cooperation, kindness, and equality between student and teacher, recognizing that the roles of teacher and student, of any age, are interchangeable, moment to moment - that the adult teachers, and the children, share life experiences with each other from a place of mutual respect.

What if grades were replaced with the understanding that life is a process of learning, and in its natural state, learning does not have to be taught. I imagine, in any kind of group setting, for children or adults, that silence is valued as much as verbal expression.

The Psychology of Heightened Awareness is based on this moment, seeing what is, without having to identify it with a name. It is about while simultaneously being aware of our own. The intent is to join with another, wanting to see what they see with a sense of wonder, allowing our own learned beliefs to step aside. This way offers the safety required in this world, for innocence, softness, and personal revelation to emerge almost effortlessly. It is about simplicity, and can be a daily practice with all relationships.

Current psychology and cultural practice is based on what could and should be; what is missing, and how the past caused whatever it is that is seemingly not happening today. It is about how you want to feel and be, eventually. It is about how we believe we have been damaged by what has been done to us as a result of our past experiences. Another perception is that all our experiences happen for us, not to us.

The psychology of the future requires an internal shift, where you feel, see, and believe there is nothing wrong and there is nothing to fix. You remember more often to see the world in yourself instead of yourself in the world. You bring magic into daily life, the magic that demands imagination, faith, inner discipline, and a willingness to believe that what is not there to see or touch, is still there. You come to realize that what is happening in your life now is right for you - that you are always doing what is right, yet may not know or believe it. Even reading this may, at first, seem vague, intangible, and not practical. If that is true, open to the possibility that simplicity is more profound than complexity. Or, that none of this is true.

"What if we are the ones to bring the peace and presence?"
